About infection and vaccination

Let us empower our society!

The level of stigma associated with COVID-19 is based on three main factors:

- It is a disease that's new and for which there are still many unknowns.
- We are often afraid of the unknown.
- It is easy to associate that fear with others.

It is understandable that there is confusion, anxiety, and fear among the public. But, together, we can support each other and overcome this.

1. Avoid stigmatisation

Of those who have been infected.

Of those who have recovered.

Of those who have been vaccinated.

2. Avoid discrimination

COVID-19 has provoked a series of discriminatory acts across continents, with different groups as targets. The reality is that COVID-19 may not discriminate, but its impact has been far from even. We are in this together, so let us help each other and provide support in these testing times.

Let each one of us resolve to teach many!
Let us be the change that we want to see.
