

COVERAGE REPORT

Tata Trusts and Harvard University's South Asia Institute collaborate to create Social and Economic Empowerment in India

On October 22, 2015

Article Date	Headline / Summary	Publication	Edition	Page No.	Journalist
Financial
28 Oct 2015	Tata, Harvard collaboration	Financial Chronicle	Bangalore	10	Bureau
28 Oct 2015	Tata, Harvard collaboration	Financial Chronicle	Chennai	10	Bureau
28 Oct 2015	Tata, Harvard collaboration	Financial Chronicle	Hyderabad	10	Bureau
28 Oct 2015	Tata, Harvard collaboration	Financial Chronicle	Mumbai	10	Bureau
28 Oct 2015	Tata, Harvard collaboration	Financial Chronicle	New Delhi	10	Bureau
Regional
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	Yashobhoomi	Mumbai	1	Bureau
Online
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	The Economic Times	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	Business Standard	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	The Hindu Business Line	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration for socio-economic empowerment in India	DNA	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce Pact to Develop Entrepreneurship Opportunities	NDTV	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	India Today	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	PTI	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	Niti Central	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration	India Today	Online Web		PTI
28 Oct 2015	Tata Trusts and Harvard University collaborate to develop entrepreneurship opportunities in India	You Story	Online Web		PTI

Financial

Publication:	Financial Chronicle	Edition:	Bangalore
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	10
		Display:	1/1

Tata, Harvard collaboration

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

Back to Index

Publication:	Financial Chronicle	Edition:	Chennai
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	10
		Display:	1/1

Tata, Harvard collaboration

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

Back to Index

Publication:	Financial Chronicle	Edition:	Hyderabad
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	10
		Display:	1/1

Tata, Harvard collaboration

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

Back to Index

Publication:	Financial Chronicle	Edition:	Mumbai
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	10
		Display:	1/1

Tata, Harvard collaboration

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

Back to Index

Publication:	Financial Chronicle	Edition:	New Delhi
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	10
		Display:	1/1

Tata, Harvard collaboration

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

Back to Index

Regional

Publication:	Yashobhoomi	Edition:	Mumbai
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:	1
		Display:	1/1

टाटा ट्रस्ट, हार्वर्ड विश्वविद्यालय
ने की गठजोड़ की घोषणा

मुंबई, टाटा ट्रस्ट और हार्वर्ड यूनिवर्सिटी साऊथ एशिया इन्स्टीट्यूट (एसएआई) ने भारत में सामाजिक और आर्थिक महाविकास के लिये ज्ञान सूजन तथा क्षमता निर्माण हेतु सहयोग की आज घोषणा की। टाटा ट्रस्ट ने एक बयान में यह जानकारी दी। टाटा ट्रस्ट के कार्यकारी चैरमैन आर. वैकुण्ठरामण ने कहा कि इस गठजोड़ के तहत हम उद्यमशीलता, अंतरिक्ष पैर करीब 100 स्थानीय समुदाय को टिकाऊ संगठित उद्यमपर कदमों में मदद करेंगे और कुशल बंग की मांग-आपूर्ति में अंतर को घटाने में सहाय्यार होगा।

Back to Index

Online

Publication:	The Economic Times	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

<http://economictimes.indiatimes.com/industry/services/education/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration/articleshow/49554411.cms>

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	Business Standard	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

http://www.business-standard.com/article/companies/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration-115102701175_1.html

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	The Hindu Business Line	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

<http://www.thehindubusinessline.com/news/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration/article7810328.ece>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	DNA	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration for socia-economic empowerment in India

<http://www.dnaindia.com/money/report-tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration-for-socia-economic-empowerment-in-india-2139277>

tata trusts Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) on Tuesday announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	NDTV	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce Pact to Develop Entrepreneurship Opportunities

<http://www.ndtv.com/india-news/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-pact-to-develop-entrepreneurship-opportunities-1237022>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	India Today	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

<http://indiatoday.intoday.in/story/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration/1/508480.html>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.
PTI DSK KRK KIS BAS

Back to Index

Publication:	PTI	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

http://www.ptinews.com/news/6665300_Tata-Trusts--Harvard-University-announce-collaboration.html

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	Niti Central	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

<http://news.niticentral.com/2015/10/28/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration/>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India."

Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index

Publication:	India Today	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts, Harvard University announce collaboration

<http://indiatoday.intoday.in/story/tata-trusts-harvard-university-announce-collaboration/1/508478.html>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) today announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India.

"Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies.

The 18-month research project titled Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India.

SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.
PTI DSK KRK KIS

Back to Index

Publication:	You Story	Edition:	Online Web
Published Date:	28 Oct 2015	Page No.:
		Display:	1/1

Tata Trusts and Harvard University collaborate to develop entrepreneurship opportunities in India

<http://yourstory.com/2015/10/tata-harvard-collaborate/>

Tata Trusts and Harvard University South Asia Institute (SAI) announced collaboration on knowledge creation and capacity building for social and economic empowerment in India. "Under this collaboration, we will develop entrepreneurship opportunities that will help provide sustainable prosperity to the local communities and will help narrow the demand supply gap for skilled labour," said R Venkataramanan, Executive Trustee, Tata Trusts.

A key component of the project is the opportunity for budding social entrepreneurs and institutions in India to apply for social innovation grants totalling Rs 50 lakh that will spur interventions and scale up existing initiatives resulting in greater impact in select geographies. The 18-month research project titled 'Livelihood Creation in India through Social Entrepreneurship and Skill Development' is the first step in this direction, a statement from Tata Trusts said.

The project will focus on three key areas: rural livelihood creation with emphasis on the handicrafts and handloom sectors, educational, social and economic empowerment of women and science and technology-based interventions for poverty alleviation.

The purpose of the project will be achieved through research with over 150 institutions across 15 states of India, five workshops with 100 participating NGOs, and 20 webinars involving Harvard faculty and subject experts from India. SAI-published literature and cases from this project will serve as a resource for Indian institutions and government bodies, it said.

Back to Index